Although some critics complained that the two stars were too far apart to make a suitable romantic couple, once they started dancing, in their only film together, all the thoughts of differences in age have been banned. And it is helped that they had a joint arzillo from Johnny Mercer, "Everything can happen", which represented for one of the three OscarÃ, ® nominations of the film, the others were for the scenography and the best score of a musical. As Fred Astaire grew, he lost anything of his grace as a dancer, but the primedonne of him were progressively becoming younger. The 1912 novel by Jean Webster, the great-grandson of Mark Twain, had been shot three times previously. History is an orphan given a college of education by an elderly invisible benefactor that courts. When the studio contacted Fred Astaire to play a leading role he was happy to make a film that he came the age of him as an element of the plot. 20th Century Fox Head Darryl F. Zanuck had imagined `Daddy Long Legs' as a vehicle for the musical star Contract Mitzi Gaynor, but Fred Astaire insisted the role from Leslie Caron, whose work had admired from the Kelly gene he had thrown her In an American in Parisa [1951]. As a result, the script was rewritten to have Fred Astaire you find out during a visit to France. Fred Astaire Johnny Mercer's friend provided most of the songs, creating words and music, even if he was known above all to be a lyricist. The movie shot was "to give everything can happen", which was recorded by The Maguire Sisters. `Long leg dad is also repeated 1945 Johnny Mercer's success" Dream ". During the "daydream sequence", in which Fred Astaire imagine fantasies of Leslie Caron of him like a Texas cowboy, an international playboy and his guardian angel and his voice cowboy was dubbed by Thurl Ravenschroft, Tony's voice La Tiger and the singer who introduced "six a medium type, Mr. Grinch". That was the only time Fred Astaire's voice was never dubbed. This was Fred Astaire's first film in Cinemascope, and designed the choreography to take advantage of what was then a new shape for the image of the film. In particular, he used the screen size to create distance between sé and leslie caron in their dance to "may happen with something" and to fill the screen size to create distance between sé and leslie caron in their dance to "may happen with something" and to fill the screen size to create distance between sé and leslie caron in their dance to "may happen with something" and to fill the screen size to create distance between sé and leslie caron in their dance to "may happen with something" and to fill the screen size to create distance between sé and leslie caron in their dance to "may happen with something" and to fill the screen size to create distance between sé and leslie caron in their dance to "may happen with something" and to fill the screen size to create distance between sé and leslie caron in their dance to "may happen with something" and to fill the screen size to create distance between sé and leslie caron in the screen size to create distance between sé and leslie caron in the screen size to create distance between sé and leslie caron in the screen size to create distance between sé and leslie caron in the screen size to create distance between sé and leslie caron in the screen size to create distance between sé and leslie caron in the screen size to create distance between sé and leslie caron in the screen size to create distance between sé and leslie caron in the screen size to create distance between sé and leslie caron in the screen size to create distance between sé and leslie caron in the screen size to create distance between sé and leslie caron in the screen size to create distance between sé and leslie caron in the screen size to create distance between sé and leslie caron in the screen size to create distance between se and leslie caron in the screen se and leslie caro choreographies to show Leslie Caron, whose background was in classical dance. He performed a series of dance steps at the culmination of the "Daydream Sequence", as he danced around her, and used pirouette and other twirling steps in their dance of "Dream". The number also includes a raretous in the choreography of him, a kiss. Unfortunately, Fred Astaire had no connection with the "Ballet Nightmare", a 12 minute sequence staged by the first mentor of Leslie Caron, Roland Petit. The Cinemascope screen also given ample artistic department opportunities, which has given 'Daddy Long Legs' a sumptuous look worthy of its international environment and the by Fred Astaire. They disservice Los Angeles International Airport to fill out for Laguardia and External shot for Fred Astaire's New York home in Fifth Avenue Andrew Carnegie Palace. Portraits of Fred Astaire, his father and his grandfather have been painted in the styles of Picasso, John Singer Sargent James Abbott McNeill Whistler, respectively, with director Jean Negulese Supply Portrait of Fred Astaire. He also painted posters for the "Ballet Nightmare" and used his artistic contacts to the paintings borrowed Picasso, Matisse, Braque and Claudette Colbert to fill in the Gallery of Fred Astaire. 20th Century Fox also gave the film a solid support cast to help bring the comedy into Phoebe Ephron and the adaptation of Henry Ephron. Thelma Ritter stole each scene was in the Quality of Fred Astaire's secretary, while Terry Moore was adequately cute and nice as a college companions in the "Daydream Sequence" was the young Barrie Chase, who would collaborate with him memorable in a couple of special television 1960. `Daddy Long Legs' is also the only film to characterize both The actors who played Bea Benaderet's husband, Harry Keating.
